Plans for development of the Albany Marina are getting a rough time in every respect.

At the Albany City Council meeting last Monday night, the public hearing was put over to April 16 to enable a greater input from residents of the City.

Ruth Ganong, vice chairman of the Waterfront Committee, pleaded with the Council to take action on some plan to get the development off center. She, as well as Sol Strand, a member of the Gateview McKinley Towers Neighborhood association's Board of Directors, asked that money be made available to hire a planner to come up with another way to develop the landfill.

Martha Hood, prominent local realtor, asked what has become the many plans that already have been presented. She questioned the advisability of another "expensive set of plans."

In presenting the plan to the City Council Monday night, William E. Haden, City Administrator, said he hoped to include all the land lying west of Interstate 80, but to include Gateview as a special part of the redevelopment project. Haden proposes to use Gateview to obtain additional funding through usage of senior citizens housing, handicapped housing and to increase the parking standard. Improvements in Use Permit 20, Gateview's permit for additional construction, are those listed above. The improvements will enable Gateview to get better funding, Haden said, and will of material help to the builders. In essence, Haden said "we, basically, enter into a cooperative relationship so that Gateview can build their project out and the City can complete its redevelopment plan

This subtle distinction is very important in the redevelopment project."

According to Haden's report to the Council, the staff has attempted to secure financing from the UDAG program, but the city has not been successful and Albany is not eligible for the project. The size of the Marina Development will not create enough jobs to get Federal funds from the Department of Commerce. Haden said neither the Federal Government nor the County has looked with favor on the Albany project.

Haden concluded his report by asking the City Council to review the redevelopment plan and authorize his staff to enter into negotiations with Interstate General Corp., to secure front end money for attorney's fees, a financial analysis, engineering plans, planning and a full closure plan. Also requested was the acquisition of land from Santa Fe railroad, present owner of the connecting link between the Marina development and Hoffman Blvd.

He also requested changes be granted in Use Permit 20, that issued to Interstate General for construction of the additional units at Gateview.

To make the Marina a reality, Albany will have to come up with some five to seven million dollars. The rest of the money, if the City could come up with the funds, would come from United States Corps of Engineers and five to six million from DND. Due to the lack of progress of the waterfront development, State Lands has granted a ten year extension to the development. If the City does not have the Marina off the ground by then, there is a good possibility the land could revert to the State. Albany is on the spot on the Marina. Something must be done one way or the other. And soon!

Dear Dr. Hansen,

This is a letter I probably should have written sooner — I have had a great many concerns about the Berkeley-East Bay Humane Society, and generally the best way to deal with concerns is to "air" them.

Please allow me to begin by introducing myself. I am a bonefide Member of the Berkeley-East Bay Humane Society, and of fairly long standing. I am also recently associated with the Concerned Members. I have been a loyal financial supporter of several Animal Welfare groups for a great many years (I do this for the heart warmth derived and not for any resulting benefit to my tax status).

May I further introduce myself — I am not a CPA, or any such. However, I am the accountant for another non profit organization, and have some dozen years of solid experience dealing with an annual funding level that probably doubles that of the support of Berkeley-East Bay Humane Society.

My purpose in writing this letter is that I am very concerned, bothered, and distressed by just about all that I have learned and am learning about Berkeley-East Bay Humane Society. I will attempt to outline these concerns in the following paragraphs. I am hoping that in return you will favor me with some adequate clarifications, preferably achieved through a personal meeting.

I am concerned and bothered — that Rudy's knowledge of understanding and interpreting these fiscal reports appears rather limited, yet he informed me that he is the staff person responsible for conveying monthly fiscal information to the Board — in fact there are no "written" monthly management reports prepared for Board usage.

I am concerned and bothered — that there is no intention of audits in future years. This is a small investment (when conducted after properly installed accounting procedures are in effect, and upon soliciting comparison proposals to insure the least possible cost) for Member's protection, and for safeguarding assets.

I am concerned and bothered — that Attorney General involvement was necessitated by some portion of Berkeley-East Bay Humane Society operations, that the same (or near same) Board that has allowed prolonged fiscal record keeping neglect has much as is physically possible within the limitations of 20-25 of a lunch hour of both the financial statements of the audit and the accompanying management letter. I then spent another 20-30 minutes discussing with Rudy some of the aspects of these reports, which as I recall cited some 20 deficiencies. I noted that the front cover of the audit contained an added written statement that all had been corrected — yet I was not fully convinced of this by either my subsequent discussion with Rudy, or in my brief scanning of the November 1978 computer printout of fiscal operations.

I am concerned and bothered — that Rudy's knowledge of understanding and interpreting these fiscal reports appears rather limited, yet he informed me that he is the staff person responsible for conveying monthly fiscal information to the Board — in fact there are no "written" monthly management reports prepared for Board usage.

I am concerned and bothered — that Attorney General involvement was necessitated by some portion of Berkeley-East Bay Humane Society operations, that the same (or near same) Board that has allowed prolonged fiscal record keeping neglect has also allowed operations to go on without audit. I am concerned and bothered that Berkeley-East Bay Humane Society appears to be currently operating in the "red".

I am concerned and bothered — that a CPA recently chose to resign for reasons he obviously considered serious. I am concerned and bothered that a person, who is obviously most knowledgeable to fiscal procedure, and therefore a strong asset to any Board, was lost.

I am concerned and bothered — that Berkeley-East Bay Humane Society is not offering service at mid-day, but rather shuts down operation. Animals do not function by clocks and watches, and cannot time emergencies.

I am concerned and bothered — that the Board has been changing by-laws with a great deal of frequency; that some of these changes have decided impact on the whole purpose and intent of what any humane society should be about. i.e., "reasonable fees" are desirable to increase chances of unwanted animals finding a new home. I am concerned and bothered by recent changes in charges that violates that concept. I am concerned and bothered by changes in the by-laws that increases required voting member dues; a direct curbing effect to membership participation. I am concerned and bothered that members have been discouraged from Board meetings.

And finally I am concerned and bothered — that an earlier Board person continues to receive some form of remuneration by a Berkeley-East Bay Humane Society funds, apparently . . . all apparently within the framework of legality, but I personally find it hard to comprehend how in heck one who is dedicated to the cause of animal welfare can conversely dip into the pot that is created by the public to support such animal welfare. I believe I am correct that I saw within the records that no amount of return (insurance provision) can ever offset the Berkeley-East Bay Humane Society's output in this matter.

Thank you for your time, and I am hoping that I will be hearing from you soon. I have provided my telephone numbers at the top of this letter.

Sincerely,
JAN JACOT

Dear Sir:

The Albany Band Boosters has again given its annual fund-raiser dinner, the Spaghetti Symphony. As in previous years, Albany Middle School and Albany High School instrumental music students, their families and friends, joined past Band Boosters and the community at large in an evening of food, music and companionship. It is too easy to leave some one out so we will not list, individually, all those volunteers, students and adults, who worked to make the evening a success it was, but we can extend a heartfelt, collective thanks to all who gave their time and effort. It couldn't have been done without you.

There is one person, Mrs. Jennie Niemala, who must be singled out. Once again, she has given untold hours of her time, energy, knowledge, and practical experience and one we've all thought would we do without?" Jessie, we thank

The following more contributed cash and food for dinner and we thank for their generosity: C. & M. Melemedos, Far Brothers, Lucky Shop, Safeway Super Stop, Tazza Bakeries, and Zarn's

Numerous others Band Boosters present and officers, school community leaders, neighbors and friends made cash contributions towards the success dinner and to them our warmest thanks.

And, finally, our thanks to those of you who bought tickets and came and stayed the evening with us. It was fun; let's do it again year.

Dear Sir:

Recently I commented the pages of The Times the widespread indifference of builders, developers, our city staff to the requirements of the proposed Measure D, I would like to cite another ple.

A developer has placed the Planning and Zoning Commission to issue a 30-unit multiplex in the block of Kains Ave. has requested permission to provide only 45 off-street parking spaces in lieu of 60 spaces required by Measure D. According to the developer, he surveys a random multiple units in the general area are found, he says, that the present residents own more than one car per unit. He explained what the situation on Cornell, Tulip, Stannage, etc., had with the 800 block of Kains Ave. In addition, he says, that available street parking spaces in the area of his building were more than adequate.

By an interesting coincidence, city staff conducted a survey in the 800 block of Kains Ave., and the findings corroborate the developer's observations. That a number of off-street parking spaces are designated for limited parking only (one and two) did not take into account nor did they deduct spaces lost due to entry into the multiplex when it is built.

I imagine that before a.m. and 8 a.m. residents have driven to work and before employees working on Solano and Pablo arrive to park, you could shoulder down Kains without a single vehicle. They've got statistics, you'll say. Statistics are fine tool, except that frequently they prove what the statistics takers want them to prove. The fact is that Kains Ave. is used intensively by employees working on Solano and San Pablo and San Pablo/Solano area, and by those attending Albany theatre, not to mention Kains residential visitors, service workers and other miscellaneou users. Now why should the staff be so eager to let the developer in his desire for fewer parking spaces? The magic word: citizens? To get the citizens to the developer to set aside developmental units for senior citizens. (The minimum

I am concerned and bothered that Berkeley-East Bay Humane Society appears to be currently operating in the "red".

No two pieces of property are exactly alike. Each will have appeal for a certain type of buyer; each might be wrong for another family's needs. Houses are sold by matching a particular family's needs and preferences with the features of those properties that are for sale.

Houses are almost never sold from an ad in the paper. Such ads may start someone thinking about buying but there can never be enough information in an ad to enable a buyer to decide to buy. It takes a real estate agent's careful matching of need against availability to put a family in a house where they'll be truly happy.

Lockhart's biggie leads scoring at Albany Bowl

By PHIL ALSTON

Lorenzo Lockhart's 269 game and 669 series topped last week's scoring at Albany Bowl and helped his Desperation team to a rare victory in the 910 Major League, 19 to 6 over O & R Vending.

Merry Jax maintained their first place pace in the Majors with a 26 to 5 romp over Franklin Electronics behind Randy Felix's 256-632.

In the battle for second place, Jack's Auto Body Shop retained its five point advantage over Diablo Bowling Supply as each team won by 18-7 margins.

Jack's well balanced scoring, led by Jack Jordan and George Broome at 594 each, was too much for Associated Coin Amusements, who had Hal Fries with 631 but little else.

The Diablos kept pace by victimizing Rod's Coffee Shop.

Standings in the 870 Commercial remained basically unchanged as D & M

Randy White led the league with 632, and John Walton added 627.

In Berkeley Elks action, Virginia Cleaners clung to a one-half game advantage over Heffleys and Emslie-Lorenz Insurance as all three teams lost their matches by 21-margins.

Closest to Lockhart's big win in the Majors was a 657 total by Jack Jordan for Saturday Swingers. Jordan followed an opening 237 matches by 2-1 margins.

In the MGM Mixed, Dave Diaz atoned for a shaky middle game by closing with 253 for 634 series while in the Thursday Sleepers circuit Woody McGee of

Once again Bob Gherlone produced high marks for Fratellanza Mixed with 234-587, while Jim Orlemann treated Nevada Tahoe Tours to a 585 set and Henry Nobriga shot 243-582 in the Friday Invitational.

LET'S GO FISHING!

By CAPT. DAVE KINLEY

Hi again!

What a great week for striper fishermen. Bank fishing was producing from Emeryville to the Pinole flats, not many extra large ones, but plenty of action on pile worms and grass shrimp. Stephen Radkey of Albany was at Pt. Isabelle the other day and just about to go home skunked when he made one more cast and bang! He tangled with a 13 pound, 31 inch striped and landed it about two hours before high tide.

Plenty of action for trollers and plug casters, too.

Ocean salmon fishing broke loose last Thursday with fast two fish limits for everyone. The New Sea Wolf was tied up at its berth with 14 limits at 10 a.m. Alas and woe! Friday, Saturday and Sunday you couldn't buy a strike. I've been fishing salmon for over 30 years and still can't figure them out. Just like women and the weather!

Catfish and crappies are showing good at Lake Berryessa. Clear Lake and Comanche. Clams are a good bet for bait.

Trot trolling is great at Lake Almanor with many limits in the 16 to 20 category.

If you are planning a trip for the trout opener, consider Sierra City and the area. There are five lakes to choose from in easy distance to each and also the North Fork of the Yuba River.

See you next week and good fishing.
